EUROPEAN STUDIES TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

EUR 224/324 Seminar: The Empire Strikes Back. From the nineteenth through the early twentieth centuries, many countries in Europe maintained a far-flung empire. As late as 1900, the majority of Africa, Polynesia, and Asia were governed by European powers. Provides an overview of how writers (from Kipling to Said), artists (from Delacroix to Picasso), and films (from Tarzan to the many versions of The Jungle Book) have looked at this period. Prerequisites: 300-level course requires FRN 202 or GMN 202 and incorporates assignments in the language. European Studies minor elective.
