The 54,000-square-foot Olin Library was dedicated in 1985. The building provides an inviting research and study environment with open stacks and study areas throughout, conference rooms, group studies, a coffee shop, and a tower lounge with spectacular views of the campus and community. The library's nine librarians and fourteen staff, our services, and collections (in print, online, and in other media) reflect the liberal arts mission of the College and support the needs of our Arts and Sciences, Hamilton Holt, and Crummer students. Located in the Olin Library, the Olin Electronic Research & Information Center complements the library by providing computer labs, multi-media facilities, and a late-night study area. The library has wireless access throughout the building and provides on and off-campus access to over sixty research databases containing thousands of digital books and journal articles. The library at Rollins College has been a selective Federal Depository since 1909. The Archives and Special Collections Department maintains the history of the College and houses the William Sloane Kennedy bequest of works by and about Walt Whitman; the Jesse B. Rittenhouse library of modern poetry and literature; the Mead and Nehrling horticultural papers; and a strong collection of primary documents concerning the history of Winter Park and central Florida. CAMPUS DEVELOPMENTS

The College continues to benefit from the largest gift in its history, over $100 million from the estate of alumnus George D. Cornell. These funds have provided additional opportunities for faculty development, established additional faculty chairs, and increased student financial aid.

Moody's Investors Service assigned Rollins College an A1 underlying rating in connection with a 2007 tax-exempt bond issue. The A1 rating, reaffirmed in 2009, is the highest received by any private college or university in the State of Florida, reflects favorably on the financial health of the College.

In 2009, Rollins was named in the Orlando Sentinel's top 20 companies for Working Families, recognizing the College as a leading family-friendly employer.

During the past year, the College engaged in a series of construction and renovation projects intended to support our educational mission, promote sustainability, improve accessibility, enhance life safety, and address deferred maintenance. Major projects included: renovation of the entrance to Elizabeth Hall, complete renovation of Mayflower Hall, reconstruction of the Bush Science Center restrooms, new seating and finishes in the Bush Auditorium, replacement of the electrical system in the Annie Russell Theatre, replacement of the air conditioning in the Cornell Fine Arts Center building and parking enhancements at Strong Hall and 170 W. Fairbanks, along with numerous small projects.

Over the summer, a new unified communications system was put in place. This enhancement will improve wireless and phone communications to better serve our community.
