

Digital Commons Network

Social and Behavioral Sciences
Works: 182,251 • Disciplines: 178
Institutions: 353 • Downloads: 48, 989, 433

RSO is a part of the Digital Commons Network - a collection of digital repositories that brings together free, full-text, scholarly articles from hundreds of universities and colleges worldwide. Curated by university librarians and their supporting institutions, the Network includes a growing collection of peer-reviewed journal articles, book chapters, dissertations, working papers, conference proceedings, and other original scholarly work.

To start exploring the Digital Commons Network, go to network.bepress.com.

Select RSO Collections:

1. Faculty Publications
2. Honors Program Theses
3. Master of Liberal Studies Theses
4. Student-Faculty Collaborative Research
5. Archives & Special Collections

Author Dashboard:

- Real-time usage statistics ✓
- Readership distribution map ✓
- Automated reporting ✓

Features at a Glance

- Top 10 Downloads
- Recent Additions
- Paper of the Day

RSO

ROLLINS SCHOLARSHIP ONLINE

Rollins College Archives

Phone: 407.646.2421
archives@rollins.edu • scholarship.rollins.edu

1000 Holt Ave. - 2744
Winter Park, FL. 32789-4499

Securely archive and personally organize your work, make it available to anyone online, and easily discover the work of others who share your interests and passions.

It's time to get started.

 Archive Your Work
In a secure repository.

 Organize Your Work
In an easy to navigate interface.

 Share Your Work
Disseminate your work widely.

 Demonstrate
The impact of your work.

 Create & Host
Conference programs and proceedings, journals, and other professional publications.

From researching ecosystems to writing film scores, the academic community at Rollins has a lot to contribute. Rollins Scholarship Online (RSO) makes it easy for researchers and artists, teachers and students, and individuals of all disciplines to preserve and share both scholarly and creative works. Whether you're a new student or a seasoned scholar, your ideas can be accessible to the worldwide academic community through RSO.

You can support Rollins College's mission of Open Access and grow your readership by publishing your scholarly works in RSO.

How to Get Started

1. Locate the post-print version of your work.
What is a post-print?

POST-PRINT

A post-print is the final version of the paper before journal formatting has been added. The post-print has been through the peer review process, officially accepted, and sent to the journal for publication. In other words, the post-print has the finalized content but not the finalized typeset.

2. Create a free account on scholarship.rollins.edu using your Rollins.edu email address. You'll receive a confirmation email within minutes.

3. Complete the online submission form and upload your content in only 5 easy steps.

An administrator will let you know when your content is available on RSO.

Schedule a Demo

You can demo RSO for your department by contacting your department's librarian.

Find your department's librarian at: rollins.edu/library/yourlibrarian.

What Faculty are Saying About RSO...

 Julian C. Chambliss, PhD
Associate Professor of History
Department of History, Rollins College

"RSO allows me the opportunity to share scholarly insight with academic peers...and the repository's superior SEO insures my work can be found by interested general readers."

 Thomas Moore, PhD
Professor of Physics
Department of Physics, Rollins College

"RSO provides me with a fast and easy way to make my scholarship accessible to a wide audience... It would be unlikely for anyone outside my research field to have access to my articles without paying, but RSO allows anyone to download and read them. Because of RSO I often receive emails from people who have found my work online but are not part of my research community."

 Marc Fetscherin, PhD
Associate Professor of International Business and Marketing
Department of Business, Rollins College

"RSO is a great outlet to disseminate your research and build your reputation as a researcher. In fact, there are more downloads of my research in RSO than any other scholarly repository. In addition, RSO's 'Author's Dashboard' allows me to see who downloaded my papers, which papers have been downloaded the most, and how researchers find my research online."

 Tonia L. Warnecke, PhD
Associate Professor of Business
Department of Business, Rollins College

"RSO is also a terrific way to showcase student-faculty collaborative research; access via RSO led to the selection of one of my student-coauthored publications for reprint, in addition to interviews with international magazines and reference in blogs. This can be highly impactful for not just faculty, but also students applying to graduate school and interviewing for jobs."