

2014 Staff Engagement Survey Results Are In

This According to results just published, staff:

- Feel proud to work at Rollins College
- Find their jobs interesting and challenging
- Are committed to Rollins' standards of service excellence
- Are willing to go above and beyond what is expected of them
- Believe their departments are good places to work
- Would recommend Rollins as a great place to work!

In perceptions regarding workplace accountability, performance feedback, recognition, collaboration, intradepartmental communication, voice in decision making and ability to challenge existing processes are improving.

“These improvement trends are very encouraging,” said Matt Hawks, who chairs the Service Excellence Team. “Through our SE initiative we have raised the bar for service and put many new standards, systems and practices in place over the past 4 years. These and other workplace improvement efforts are helping to shape and influence positive change.”
