

Employer Deferments

Tuition deferment is a benefit Crummer and Hamilton Holt provides students who receive tuition reimbursement from their employer. The deferment agreement is between the student and Rollins – not between Rollins and the student’s employer. The student is responsible for the payment regardless of payment from the employer.

A new completed deferment form is due prior to the beginning of each and every term the student is approved to utilize this benefit. Late fees will be assessed if this form is not received before the first day of class and each month thereafter until the deferment form and/or payment is received.

In the absence of a deferment form, tuition is due as per the tuition schedule. Tuition deferment payments of the total due must be submitted to Rollins College by the due date schedule below.

- Fall term deferred payment is due no later than January 31st
- Spring term deferred payment is due no later than June 30th
- Summer term deferred payment is due no later than September 30th

Students who fail to pay the deferred balance by the due date schedule will be assessed a late payment fees each month thereafter until the balance has been paid. In addition, a financial hold place on their record, which will restrict future semester registration and issuance of transcripts.

Failure to meet your tuition deferred payment deadline may result in suspension of this benefit.

Transcripts and diplomas will not be released and future registration will be disallowed with a past due balance owed to Rollins.

Financial aid funds are applied to the account balance first. A student is only eligible for a refund if the account has a credit balance. If a student has a deferment form from an employer, the student may retain the funds when received from their employer.
